REGISTRATION RESULTS

What Is Shown By the Figures of Tuesday Last

The result of Tuesday's regular registration shows an aggregate falling off of 59 from the total of 1906.

"On the face of the returns," the Democrats gain 18, and the Republicans lose just that number, making an offset—the total loss of 59 being in the number of those registering as non-committal, &c.

However, there will be a three-days' inning at the Clerk's Office for those who were too sick to get to the polls on the regular day, or who were absent from the city.

There was a light registration in the country towns Tuesday judging from the following figures—

Washington	126
Germantown	33
Orangeburg	34
Murphysville	18
Minerva	22
East Mayslick	26
West Mayslick	41
Sardis	68
Dover	97
Total	509

BRYAN MARKETS

Comparison of Prices Following His Speech Ten Years Ago With Present Time

Ten years ago this month William J. Bryan read his famous Madison Square speech, which marked the upward turn of a market which had become utterly demoralized. His 1896 speech was delivered Wednesday, August 12th, but as a campaign argument it fell flat, described by The New York press as a "dreary waste of words."

In view of Mr. Bryan's speech a contrast of stock market prices now and ten years ago makes very interesting reading. Comparison of a few New York and Boston stocks follows herewith:

New York.	Aug. 29, '96.	Aug. 12, '06.

*Includes the $15 assessment later levied in reorganization.
The price of Boston and Montana is the price of four shares of Amalgamated given for each share of Boston and Montana.
The price of C. B. and Q. is the latest price of outstanding minority stock, which is less than its value were it today an independent company, and is less than its present value to the majority ownership held by Great Northern and Northern Pacific.
